The Herald-Sun

New tenant: GrassRoots Biotechnology, an agricultural biotech company developing crop lines for the biofuel, food and industrial sectors, has moved to Scientific Properties' Venable Center in downtown Durham.

The company was formerly at Research Triangle Park and now occupies the entire second floor in the Dibrell A Warehouse.

The new lab and office space at Venable will allow Grassroots to grow to about 25 employees, the company said. Grassroots was spun out of Duke University and founded in 2007.

Other tenants at Venable include Somerhill Gallery, the City of Durham's Office of Economic Development and Niemann Capital.
